Neuro-Diverse Communication Workshop

What is the session about?
This is a workshop designed to raise awareness of the communication differences between those with a neurodevelopmental condition (ASD, ADHD or Dyspraxia) and those who are deemed to be 'Neuro-Typical'. We will also discuss strategies to promote effective communication.

What will happen in the session?
The Speech and Language Therapist will present information about some of the key communication differences between these two populations. You will be welcome to share your own experiences and challenges with the rest of the group but there will be no pressure to do so. Due to the small group size, any discussions will be very informal.

You will also be signposted to further sources of information where appropriate.

Who can attend the session?
Please note, this session is for adults only. Please ensure that you make arrangements for your child/young person to be looked after as we are unfortunately unable to offer any childcare facilities.

Who will lead the session?

Sarah Leddy
Speech and Language Therapist

Adult Neurodevelopmental Service
024 7696 1355

May 2018